BY MILITARY FAMILY ADVISORY NETWORK

Every two years, the Military Family Advisory Network (MFAN) fields the Military Family Support Programming Survey to understand the lived experiences of our service members, veterans, and their families. This important research provides rich insight into the support needs of military-connected families and serves as a catalyst for the creation and strengthening of programs, policies, and resources.

Military-connected individuals may take the survey starting October 2, 2023 at milfanet.org/survey!

The 2023 survey takes a comprehensive look at military family life, including:

- Childcare
- Employment
- Family relationships
- Financial readiness
- Food insecurity
- Health and well-being
- Housing
- Military-to-civilian transition

All service members, veterans, and their family members over the age of 18 may participate.

Whether you are newly enlisted or have years of service under your belt, owning a home can be a great investment but it also can cause financial stress and difficulty if you have to move at a moment's notice.

Inflation and the military: Four lifelines for active-duty service members and veterans

BY NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR CREDIT COUNSELING

The 15th annual Consumer Financial Literacy Survey conducted by The Harris Poll on behalf of the National Foundation for Credit Counseling (NFCC) and the Wells Fargo Foundation has revealed that military households are experiencing more negative effects of inflation than the general population. According to the survey, the impact of inflation is affecting military households in several ways including difficulty paying monthly bills, missed credit card or loan payments, keeping up with housing payments, and more.

Here are four ways that active duty servicemembers and veterans can find relief when the pressures of inflation lead to financial trouble:
